

Samantha A. Inniss Bio

Samantha Alēthea Inniss is a NYC girl with Caribbean roots. At a young age, she has always been enamored by the artistry of performance. She stayed committed in finding ways to creatively express herself as well as her culture.

As a professionally trained actor, author, event curator, creative consultant, and arts and culture advocate, she believes in the transformative power of the arts; these experiences are part of what drives her and draws her to perform characters of a diverse and complex nature.

While working on her major in Social Work, Samantha actively engaged in many Theater productions in undergrad while minoring in Acting. She broadened her talents in the arts while performing in Community-based Theater performances and Off-Broadway productions. Feeling unfulfilled with her training, she later went on to further her studies in her craft. She was given the opportunity to do so when she was accepted into The Hagen Summer Intensive at HB Studios to continue her development as an artist. At the moment, she is currently working on expanding her skills into the TV and Film industries.

Samantha sees the arts as more than a passion but a necessity which she has shown in the communities that she has served under her curated project Art, Food, & Soul. She has a unique way of looking at the world, as it is all truly her stage and she is committed to the role that she plays in it.
